THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Why are there so many problems in the world?

A question for the ages with many possibilities. But what if the answer is simple... Self-centeredness!

Self-centeredness can take many faces including selfishness, pride and ego. In a world of (i)Phones, (My)space, and (i)Pads the number one person we're told to look out for is (i).

It seems the world cares only to maximise our own pleasure and minimize our pain. Who cares about people dying from hunger, experiencing sickness, languishing behind prison – as long as our lives are content to our own satisfaction, that is all we care for.

When we call ourselves Christians, we are not talking about self-serving Christianity, but rather serving Christianity.

We are all called into servanthood, to serve others, to place others needs before ours. We're called to be like Christ who humbled himself to be a servant, to serve others.

When we walk with Christ, teaching others and sharing Christ's love in our communities, we begin to knock down the barriers, meeting people where they are, we are able to shine a light in our communities.

Through faith-in-action Christians demonstrate servant leadership. We are to work for changes in societal challenges that bring an end to suffering, discrimination against races, gender, age, socio-economic status.

If we adopt Christ's model of compassionate service filled with love, we can lead people to spiritual transformation and change the world one intentional selfless act at a time.

"Then Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion for them, because they were weary and scattered, like sheep having no shepherd. Then He said to His disciples, "The harvest truly is plentiful, but the labourers are few. Therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out labourers into His harvest." (Matthew 9:35-38, NKJV)
